Remembering Our Own

By Mike Denham

Early next week, on the 11th hour of the 11th day of the 11th month of the year, our nation will pause to pay tribute to its veterans.

That timing is crucial, because it marks the anniversary of the unofficial end of World War I, when leaders agreed late in the morning of Nov. 11, 1918, to cease fighting.

Although the war did not technically conclude until the Treaty of Versailles seven months later, President Wilson understandably chose that symbolic day to honor those who fought in what many called the “Great War.”

For more than four decades, their sacrifices were the chief focus of what became known as Armistice Day. In the wake of World War II and the Korean War, however, it was clear that the holiday’s scope needed to be widened, and 60 years ago this past summer, Congress and President Eisenhower accomplished that goal by authorizing Veterans Day.

Kentucky, not surprisingly, has a long record of doing more than its fair share for our country. We lost more soldiers during the War of 1812, for example, than every other state combined.

In World War I, we can lay claim to the very first American casualty, McLean County native Cpl. James Bethel Gresham, and one of the war’s last survivors: Hopkinsville native Robley Rex, whose military career began after the armistice but before the Treaty of Versailles.

After he died in April 2009, just a few days prior to his 108th birthday, only one World War I-era veteran was still alive in our country. He passed away in 2011 at the age of 110.

About 84,000 Kentuckians served in World War I, and more than three-and-a-half times as many answered the call during World War II. Tens of thousands more joined their ranks in Korea, Vietnam, Iraq and Afghanistan and stand at the ready at Fort Knox, Fort Campbell and dozens of other installations across the Commonwealth.

Since the beginning of the Revolutionary War, 42 million Americans have given their time, their talents and, if necessary, even their life and limb on our behalf. More than half of those soldiers are still with us today, including 339,000 Kentuckians.

The General Assembly

has worked hard over the years to ensure these men and women receive the respect and care they deserve. That includes dedicating money to the World War II Memorial in Washington, D.C.; declaring Veterans Day to be a state holiday; and making it possible for older veterans to receive their high school diplomas if they were otherwise unable to finish high school because of their service.

The state’s first nursing home for veterans opened in the early 1990s in Jessamine County and two more were

The Bracken County Cross Country teams ran in cold wet conditions during in the Region 5 Championships in Maysville on Saturday, November 1st. Both teams ran with the determination needed to be contenders for right to go to the State Championship in Lexington on Saturday, November 8th.

As the results were being read during the awards ceremony, team members, family and friends waited with bated breath to see how the girls’ team would finish. A dry eye could not be found among the team and the mothers as the fourth and final team to qualify for state was announced as Bracken County!

As surprising as the girls’ results were, the waiting to hear the boys’ qualifying teams was tension filled. The boys had hoped to capture second place over Burgin, but were unsure of their standings as Danville’s team finished stronger than expected. The team and family and friends waited with much anticipation as it was announced 3 teams would qualify out of the 6 teams that ran. As each place was called Bracken County held their breath, releasing it in a collective sigh and deafening scream of joy as it was announced they had qualified with their 3rd place team finish. The twelve cross country members, Coach Hunt and family and friends will travel to Georgetown on Friday night to stay the night before heading to the Horse Park on Saturday morning for their race. Each team member has sacrificed this season as they worked to reach their goal of taking Bracken XC to State once again. The runners are congratulated on their achievements thus far and wished the best of luck on Saturday.

In the girls 5K race, Kyndal Dotson finished in 23:11.87, Heather Ebert in 23:16.94, Ashley Anderson 23:32.28, Joy Ebert 27:24.11, and Samantha Anderson in 27:43.02.

In the boys 5k race, Jacob Hamilton finished in 18:40.46, Cameron Botkins in 19:21.25, Matthew Hunley in 19:22.97, Jared Jefferson in 19:41.72, Jacob Marsh in 19:56.57, Brandon Cox in 21:19.26, and Daniel Simons in 21:26.98.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

We were responsible for cleaning Dutch Ridge Road from the AA Highway to Asbury Road on Saturday, October 11th. While it was not the dirtiest road we have cleaned this year, there was still a lot of trash thrown out in just a 2 mile stretch. Luckily we did not find any discarded needles, but there was a lot of beer bottles, soda bottles, and food containers. Seeing how drivers treat our roadways is disgusting and makes us wish there were tougher penalties for those found littering. Remember to dispose of your trash responsibly to keep Bracken County beautiful, safe, and healthy for all of us.

Thank you

There was a heavy wind and hail storm in the neighborhood of Sharon last Sunday as persons were returning home from church. Five buggies and one covered spring wagon were blown over by the wind. No serious damage done to persons, that we have been able to learn, farther than some bruises caused by hail. Several buggies were badly broken.

Annual "Light Up Brooksville" parade beginning to taking shape

On Saturday, December 6th, at 4:30 p.m. the "Light Up Brooksville" Christmas Parade will begin leaving Taylor Elementary where participants started lining up at 3:30 p.m. The committees faithful "liner-upper", Sherri Holleran, will have worked her magic and Chief Hause will have the traffic well in hand. The parade committee is thinking they will have the BIGGEST parade ever.

Tuesday, November 4, the committee chose the Grand Marshal, then scrambled to get magnetic signs made and write up their life story and take pictures for The Bracken County News. Actually, The Bracken County News does all but the decision. We would be in trouble without them.

Committee member Tom Cortner hopes everyone is as busy as the Brooksville Christian Church is with their entry, which is in a top secret hiding place. Don't forget the theme is "Favorite Christmas Melodies" of which there is an endless supply both religious and secular. Anyone on the committee can share ideas with you, should you wish.

Cortner also has it on good authority that the play practice on "Yes, Virginia, there is a Santa Clause" is proceeding nicely under the leadership of Mrs. Hicks. It will be presented at 1:30 p.m. at Taylor on Saturday, December 6.

GREETINGS FROM ST. JAMES

by Caroline Jefferson

M s g r . D o m i n i c experienced renewed faith and spiritual awakening on his recent two week pilgrimage to the Holy Land and Rome and advised anyone to take advantage of such a trip! The last two winners of our weekly $100 giveaway were Mr. Jeff Montgomery and Mr. and Mrs. Bobby Crawford.

Everyone is invited to the Annual St. James Women's L.I.F.E. Group Harvest Thanksgiving Dinner on Sunday, November 16 beginning at 1:00 PM in the Parish Hall. Turkey, stuffing, gravy, rolls and drinks will be provided and you will need to bring a covered dish of a salad, vegetable or dessert to share.

Our sincerest and heartfelt sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Mary Katherine Kern who passed away Sunday evening. Mary Katherine was a shining example of what a Mother, Grandmother, friend and confidant should be and she lived her life serving the needs of her family and community! Mary Katherine never complained and accepted God's will in her life even though that proved difficult at times, especially when the family experienced the death of Cathy Jo. May God bless, sustain and comfort this big, wonderful family during their difficult days ahead!

PRESBYTERIAN POTPOURRI

by Les Grooms, pastor

Augusta Presbyterian Church

We had 63 in attendance for worship Sunday. Earl Bush led the worship service, Susie Hargett led the singing, Jean Appelman prepared the communion elements, Judy Mefford and Jewel Mefford served the elements, and we had no children's church because this was communion Sunday.

Shawnothy Newton led the singing of the Gloria Patri and he sang a solo as the congregation did not sing and allowed him to sing solo. He did such a fine job.

We are continuing with our soup suppers on Monday night but we have decided that when the weather is so bad that school is dismissed, we will not have soup supper that night. If school is dismissed for any other reason other than weather, we will continue to have soup supper.

We have a number of coats collected and if you're in need of a free coat, stop by on Monday evening and look at our collection of free coats.

Next Sunday (Nov. 9) we are planning a special worship service. Much of the service that we normally have will be eliminated so that we can enjoy special music by Carol McIntosh. Carol is best known for her service to rest homes. She goes there and entertains the residents with music and even goes to different rooms and sings to the residents. She will be bringing her guitar and asking the congregation to sing with her as she brings her Christian message of song and testimony. Come and join us for a spirit filled time.

On November 17 we will be hosting the annual thanksgiving meal in conjunction with the Christian Church, the United Methodist church, and St. Augustine church.

We will start at 10:00 a.m., begin delivery of meals and 2:00 p.m., and serve our weekly soup supper thanksgiving meals starting at 4:00 p.m. We need workers, we need suggestions for delivered meals, and we need pumpkin pies and turkeys. We are asking the cooperating churches to donate two cooked turkeys and six pumpkin pies. Others can donate whatever that they can.

Thoughts and Meditations from the Scriptures

KNOWING MANY THINGS

Modern technology has made it possible for virtually everything that is known to be accessible at the push of a few buttons. Just ask your question and the search engine provides you with an assortment of answers. And, with "smart phones" it's almost literally true that all of human knowledge can fit in your pocket. But, what has this access to instant knowledge gained for us? Are we better off because we can settle factual disputes quicker, and has this knowledge made us wiser, or just lazier? Those of us who remember spending hours, or even days or weeks, in the library researching for our term papers are likely to feel that the younger generation has grown soft and doesn't appreciate how easy they have it when it comes to accessing information. But, the more important question is whether this instant knowledge makes us better human beings, and here I think the answer has to be that it can, by making us more aware of the suffering and plight of people around the world, and able to reach out to them, charitably or otherwise, at a moment's notice. And while having access to such vast amounts of information can make us lazier about acquiring knowledge the old-fashioned way (by reading or doing our own research), it also allows us to have a broader, more synthetic view and to be more connected to the rest of humanity. And we should always remember that truth is One. Knowing many things can blind us to the ultimate fact about our existence, that we owe our very being to the one true God.

— Christopher Simon

Now this is eternal life: that they know you, the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom you have sent. - John 17:3

Thank You

Thank you for all the kindness you have shown us during the illness and death of our mother. The visits, food, flowers, cards, thoughts, and prayers have been sincerely appreciated.

Although we would like to thank each individual who helped Mom and us, it would be impossible in this small space. However, we would like to extend our special gratitude to a few—the Hospice of Hope, Brandie, and Amanda for their care and thoughtfulness shown to Mom over the past year; Moore and Parker for their guidance, assistance, and quality work; and Brother Bob Cannon for his compassionate words. Finally, to all those who waved or spoke to Mom as she enjoyed sitting on her porch and to all those who assisted us at sporting and community events, we appreciate you helping make special memories for Mom and for us that we will cherish in our hearts forever. Your little acts of kindness have meant so much.

Mom always loved Bracken County and it is easy to see why, as this love has been shown to all of us many times in the recent month. Thank you from the bottom of our hearts and God Bless You!

Eye to Eye

with David Blandford, M.D.

THE COMPLETE STORY

If you or your children have undergone a "vision screening" at school, in a mobile unit, or at a department of motor vehicles, you should know that this general eye test is no substitute for a "comprehensive eye examination." Screenings are general eye tests that are conducted to identify people at risk for certain eye conditions and diseases. A screening can indicate the need for a comprehensive eye exam, which involves careful testing of all aspects of a person's vision. Only ophthalmologists (eye doctors) can perform a complete eye exam, the results of which can lead to a recommended treatment plan (eyeglasses or contact lenses, eye exercises or surgery, Medical treatment, or simply recommendation of a later appointment) if necessary. Eye conditions and diseases that can rob you and your family of good vision can strike at any time in life, from newborn to old age. At KENTUCKY EYE INSTITUTE our goal is to provide you with the very best medical and surgical eye care in an efficient, professional, and economical manner. We are located at 1937 Old Main St., Suite 1, Old Washington, where our highly trained staff is ready to care for and assist you in any way we can. We care about you and the quality of your eyesight. Please call 606.759.7883 or 800.658.7282 to schedule an appointment for a comprehensive eye examination.

P.S. A complete eye exam can result in the detection of a systemic condition (hypertension, high cholesterol, diabetes, etc.), simply by looking at various structures (like blood vessels) within the eye.

Medium Cassidy Rae to showcase her talents at Parkview Inn

Cassidy Rae is not your normal 16 year old teenager. She has a special gift that came as part of her life at the age of 13 while going on her very first ghost hunt in Narrows Virginia. She is a teen medium that can communicate with spirits that have passed on.

This gift came as explained by Cassidy like a light bulb being turned on and all these people coming to her that she could see but nobody else could. Along with that was whispers and sounds she could hear but couldn't figure out where they were coming from. After talking to her mom and stepdad and explaining what she was experiencing her parents decided to contact some people in the paranormal field who were more familiar with what Cassidy was telling them. Cassidy's stepdad Jason Wilkerson has been doing paranormal investigations for over 10 years so he had some connections to help not only Cassidy figure out her new found ability but answer some questions for himself and his wife Rhonda.

After talking with well known paranormal researcher Patti Starr of Ghost Chasers in Lexington Kentucky about how to manage her abilities the next step was do we tell anyone about what she can do or just keep it quiet out of the thought that it might be a hindrance of going to school and kids finding out she could talk to ghosts. After a long thought out process Cassidy decided to go with it and use her gift to go investigating with her stepdad and see what she would experience in a haunted location. After getting a few investigations under her belt her family talked about doing a webseries featuring herself as well as a few friends and her family called "Dead People See Me" for the GTN network out of Memphis Tennessee.

After a couple of episodes were filmed Cassidy was asked to attend a convention because of her gift of being a medium/ghost hunter. While at the event that weekend the promoter approached Cassidy and asked if she wanted to read people on stage during her introduction. She agreed not knowing anything about readings except for things she had seen on T.V.

The first person she did a reading for out of the audience she told them about their personality and then her face changed and brought up a saying that this individual and his uncle only knew between them. As explained by her stepdad on stage with her that the guys face turned white and he took 3 steps back and started to get emotional.

From that day on Cassidy decided to use her gift to help families and friends that are looking for closure to loved ones who have passed on as well as travel to conventions across the country year round and attend paranormal investigations when asked to be a special guest. She was introduced on October 4th during an investigation she was invited to by her friends Tri-State Paranormal with Chris Maggard and Patrick Shields and fell in love with the town of Augusta that night and its residents who treated her like they had known her forever. She lives in Wilmore, Kentucky and is a junior at East Jessamine High School and enjoys time with her family and friends as well as being a key person in her local 4-H.

She is studying to be a traveling nurse specializing in the trauma unit and is in talks with a production company to have her own TV show in 2015.

Lastly Cassidy has a charity that she works with that is close to her heart called Chiari Malformation Foundation which is when your brain outgrows your skull and decompression surgery is needed. She was introduced to it when she met a 4 year old little boy named Clyde at an event in Ohio. Clyde's grandmother who works with Toys

For Tots started the foundation to bring awareness to Chiari Malformation. Cassidy donates half of everything she makes to the Chiari Malformation Foundation as well as she has done events during Christmas to help out local food banks and clothing drives.

Cassidy will showcase her talents at The Parkview Inn on Friday, November 14th. Tickets are limited to 15 people at $40 per person which includes dinner, dessert, and a drink as well as a one on one reading from Cassidy. The event will start at 6 p.m. with dinner and meet and greet and close with the last reading being done. Contact the Parkview at 606-756-2667.

KY Beef Producers call for Referendum to Support Beef Promotion

Kentucky beef producers have called for a referendum to support the advancement of beef promotion in Kentucky by collecting an additional $1.00 per head sold. The Kentucky Cattlemen's Association, as the certified entity, made an application to the Kentucky Board of Agriculture requesting a referendum to further beef promotion in Kentucky. The Kentucky Board of Agriculture approved the request and a referendum date of November 20, 2014 has been set.

Creating a uniquely Kentucky Beef Checkoff will strengthen beef demand internationally, nationally, state-wide and locally. Funding provided by Kentucky beef producers and spent by Kentucky beef producers, the state checkoff can not only compliment the current programs of the Kentucky Beef Council, but will more aggressively confront beef industry challenges faced by shifting consumer attitudes about beef, rising beef prices and concerns about food safety and animal care.

For over 30 years, Kentucky farmers have invested in their business, knowing that no business, even the beef business, survives without investment, promotion and research. Recent research conducted by Cornell University found that for each dollar invested by farmers into beef checkoff activities from 2006-2013, $11.20 was returned to beef industry producer profit.

Funding a Kentucky Beef Checkoff program means providing funding to support the programs of the Kentucky Beef Council, and supporting areas that have the largest positive impact for Kentucky beef and dairy producers, shares Steve Downs, Kentucky Cattlemen's Association President.

Oversight of the funds, if passed, will be the responsibility of the Kentucky Beef Promotion Council. Made up of beef and dairy producers along with industry professionals, Kentucky beef producer Charles Miller is excited to see the impact additional funding of the Kentucky Beef Checkoff can have. Miller shares, The value of $1 today compared to 1985 is $.44. It's imperative to continue to be forward-thinking, and have the funding needed to support Kentucky beef and dairy producers through beef promotion and education efforts.

Every dollar invested back into the Kentucky Beef Checkoff will go to increase profit opportunities by keeping beef top-of-mind with consumers and by working to ensure a wholesome, safe, and quality beef-eating experience every time.

The Referendum will take place at local Kentucky Cooperative Extension Offices on Thursday, November 20, 2014. Voting is open to all producers of bovine animals involved in the marketing or sale of bovine animals within the Commonwealth of Kentucky. For more details, visit www.jsycattle.org.

TRASH TALK

by: Mr. Recycle Bin & Ms. Pick-Up Litterbug

606-735-9960

Howdy Folks! This past weekend we've had to turn over another calendar page, and turn back all our clocks one hour! In just three short weeks we will be enjoying Thanksgiving food with family and friends, and in another seven weeks we will be celebrating the birth of Our Savior on Christmas Day! Unfortunately for consumers, merchants are already vying for shoppers' dollars by offering pre-pre-Christmas discounts while the aisles are still crowded with Halloween and Fall décor! Now is the time to step back from all this to make a list of all the items that you will be needing to celebrate the holidays and as you shop each week, get a few of the items on this list. By the time the days for celebrating have arrived, you will have all that items necessary! You will be more relaxed to enjoy the time with family and friends and your have not overspent!

By shopping early, you have the luxury of comparing prices and also comparing packaging. One report that we looked at online stated that the packaging of an item can increase the cost of that item anywhere from 1.4 to 40%, but on average, the cost of packaging is $1 for every $11 spent, so roughly 9% of the cost of every item is for packaging! Manufacturers classify packaging in three categories with primary being the part that actually contains the product such as a can for pop or plastic bottle for water. Secondary packaging is used to protect the product during shipping such as the decorated carton or gift box and the tertiary packaging is the cardboard boxes the items are packed in for shipping. There are also five reasons for packaging, the first being to contain the product such as a tube for toothpaste; the second reason is to inform the consumer of the product with all the details of who, what, where, etc.; the third purpose of packaging is to protect the product from germs, breakage, moisture change, etc.; transportation packaging is the fourth purpose and lastly packaging is used for display of the product to entice the consumer to purchase that particular product.

Of course, all these are good reasons but in order for us to be excellent consumers, we must close the loop so to speak on all this packaging by recycling as much as we can. A 2010 EPA Report stated that containers and packaging generated the largest portion of MSW (municipal solid waste) at 30% or almost 76 million tons! While we are definitely limited in this area as to the types of packaging that are actually recyclable, any recycling is better than no recycling! If everyone in Bracken County recycled all the cardboard, No. 1 and 2 plastics, glass bottles and jars, paper, steel and aluminum cans which are the primary packaging materials, we would have to make multiple trips to the Recycling Center each day! Bracken County residents are now the proud owners of three, very large and very new Recycling Trailers that can accommodate increased recycling needs. Of course, just because they are bigger does not mean that you can slack off breaking down the boxes! It is even more important than ever to flatten this tertiary classification of packaging! (Ok! We have to admit we had to look up the meaning of 'tertiary' and it just means 'third'!) Whatever type of packaging classifications you have, please don't landfill them but RECYCLE, REUSE and REDUCE them to keep God's earth clean, green and beautiful! Be seen? you – Bin & Bug.

Dear Editor:

We did road cleanup on 1159 from the AA to Badger Road. The road was covered in trash. It's awful that people feel the need to dump their garbage on the side of the road instead of a trash can where it belongs. Please stop littering and making our roads dirty.

The property shall be sold to the highest and best bidder(s) and said purchaser shall be required to pay cash or the sum of ten percent (10%) of the bid price in cash deposit with the balance of the purchase price to be due and payable in cash or certified funds, within thirty (30) days from the date of sale. Snapp advances to State as Panthers
compete at Regionals

Cold, windy, and no sun in sight. That describes the conditions at the Region 5 Class “A” Cross Country Championship held in Mason County on November 1.

Two Lexington Christian Academy runners led the way for the 55 runners in the boys’ race with Aaron Wier finishing first in 16:17 and Adam Huff crossing the line next in 16:33. Augusta’s Camryn Snapp finished in third place, running his second best time of the season of 17:10. The Panthers’ next runner to finish was freshman David Reed (19:10), followed by freshman Rhys Todd (19:43). Seventh grader Seth Fouts set a personal record, finishing in 22:18. Jon Barrett ran a 23:38, his second best time of the season, and Adam Sallee finished in 30:07. The team as a whole finished fifth, with the only three full teams being able to advance to the state championship.

While the meet marks the end of the season for most of the Panthers, Snapp’s third place finish overall allows him to advance to the state championship for the third consecutive year. The top five individuals not on a qualifying team can advance as an individual, and Snapp was the first individual qualifier.

Snapp will compete in the KHSAA Cross Country State Championship this Saturday, November 8, at the Kentucky Horse Park in Lexington. The Boys Class “A” race first call is 10 a.m.

Sports in Kentucky by Bob Watkins

‘They don’t settle! They don’t settle for anything’ - Kelly Wells says of UK Wildcats

When the calendar turns to February Pikeville’s Bears will own another 20-win season and be in the hunt for another NAIA championship. Nice club, UPike.

Coach Kelly Wells, an eastern Kentuckian down to his socks, skips sugary platitudes and cute circle talk after games even when it puts $20,000 (according to a UK spokesman) into UPike’s bank account. He gets to the point. After his Bears took its whupping from best team this side of the Cleveland Cavaliers, Wells was candid.

√ “... they’re throwing lobs and we look like middle school kids out there at times because they’re just so big.”

√ “They take away the basket from you, they take away easy baskets, but I think the biggest key is they don’t settle for anything.”

√ “They don’t ever settle. They don’t settle. I’ve never been a part of a team where we gave up 80 percent field goals in the first half. They don’t settle for anything, but dunks and layups.”

Comment. Commit ‘They don’t settle’ to memory for recall December 28, day after UK’s three-game stretch against North Carolina, UCLA and Louisville.

Going forward, Wells offered a vital insight ...

√ “They have to be hungry all the time and all night. There will be nights throughout a college basketball season when you just don’t have it; somebody gets hurt, injuries and rotations.”

Comment: Vying for playing time, staying hungry should be no problem for all stars playing on national television for NBA scouts.

LOUISVILLE FOOTBALL

Remarkable the parallel – like its down-I-64 rival, Louisville frittered away opportunity last week. The Cardinals’ surrender at home to Florida State, with road dates to come at Boston College and Notre Dame, looms as a season killer.

When the Seminoles struck for three touchdowns in the fourth quarter all the superlatives spent on Bobby Petrino’s genius evaporated.

Short of a home finale win over Kentucky, the wand may have been passed on to Rick Pitino’s Cardinals.

PS: Louisville’s uniform choice for national television last week was double U? Ultra ugly.

UK FOOTBALL

Three sentences, analysis enough for Kentucky’s 20-10 thumping at Missouri.

√ Mizzou linebacker Kentrell Brothers: “We knew exactly what they were going to do. They tried to catch us off guard a little bit with the motioning and stuff like that, but we knew exactly what they were going to run based off of Coach Stec’s game plan sheets.”

√ UK coach Mark Stoops: “Very disappointed in our effort. We really got beat from the start of the game to the end.”

CORDIA COMMON SENSE

From the Common Sense Department – Cordia High School gets final word November 12 from KHSAA commissioner Julian Tackett, on the school’s appeal to lift sanctions on its boys basketball program.

Found guilty of major rules violations earlier this year, Cordia’s basketball program is shut down for the coming season.

“It absolutely killed me inside to take kids out of play,” Tackett told the Lexington Herald-Leader last month. “But nobody was minding the shop in the basketball program.”

Tackett’s remark show clearly where sanctions belong. Coaches and/or administrators ignored KHSAA regulations, not student-athletes.

Common sense says student-athletes, cheerleaders and fans should not be deprived of the joys of participation. A wiser course by Tackett and KHSAA board of control, would be a variation of the following:

√ Suspend those responsible for a year, plus a year probation.

√ Recommend Cordia’s Board of Education choose a faculty member and/or volunteer in the community/county to coach varsity and junior varsity teams so that children can participate this year, represent their school and community.

√ The $25,980 fine assessed Cordia by KHSAA be used to compensate the volunteer coaches.

√ And, the entire episode be made a classroom assignment, learning experience for youngsters: Being held responsible and price of unethical decision-making by adults.

√ Finally, adults responsible for KHSAA rules violations be required to attend home games and pay for their tickets.

KENTUCKY MR. FOOTBALL

Odds-on favorite to be Kentucky’s 27th Mr. Football is Damien Harris at Madison Southern. His recruiting profile as second best running back prospect in America, makes it so.

Yet, Mr. Football voters will do good research – balance on-field achievement with academic progress, service to school and community – and find the name Elijah Sindelar come up on their computer screens.

Quarterback at Caldwell County, Sindelar has had a Tim Couch-like record setting experience in high school (2012-2014).

Sindelar has re-set the record (133) for touchdown passes, thrown for almost two miles in yards and will re-set the state record for most touchdown passes, 133.

The 6-4, 200-pound All-Stater is headed to the Big Ten, will study and play at Purdue.

PALMER’S MAN CRUSH

Kentucky’s football team was not alone coming away from Missouri, red-faced last week. SEC Network analyst Jessie Palmer’s gushing praise for UK quarterback Patrick Towles went beyond reasonable all the way to Man Crush.

“Better than Tim Couch,” Palmer said, “better than any quarterback at Kentucky ever.”

Ever? Broadcast partner Brent Musburger reminded Palmer how young he is (36) by offering up names of two Hall of Fame quarterbacks at UK, George Blanda (1945-48) and Vito ‘Babe’ Parilli (1949-51). Combined, Blanda and Parilli went on from UK to play in the NFL for 41 seasons.

Palmer retreated a bit. “I mean in the modern era.”

And so it goes.
